

MYLON PATTON

Bio

Mylon Patton is currently a Lead for North Carolina Fellow with the Buncombe County, North Carolina Government. There, he has been tasked with developing a Countywide Apprenticeship program, collaborating on Homelessness Solutions, and advancing the County's work on Racial Equity, including Reparations. A Native of Charlotte, North Carolina, Mylon graduated from The University of Chicago in June with a Double Major in Political Science and Economics with a Minor in Human Rights. Throughout College, Mylon worked with the City of Chicago's Use of Force Working Group, the Illinois Farm Bureau, the Institute of Politics, the Organization of Black Students, and various community initiatives - including Rainbow/PUSH Coalition, working with Reverend Jackson and Reverend Wilson on voting rights, economic development, and youth empowerment. After the completion of his Fellowship, Mylon looks to attend Law School next year and pursue a career in Public Service.